The first international sketching festival took place in the city of Stralsund in Germany between the 20th and 30th of July 2008. The imagined and achieved aim was the gathering of young artists to create a funny, creative atmosphere in which a lot of remarkable works of art were completed.

The registered sketching festival society developed from this project.

The volunteers, just like the participants, were so overwhelmed by the fantastic mood that they decided to find a way on which the festival can develop and define itself constantly new. Following the festival's motto, there is the possibility to try out oneself in the different areas of art and culture time and again.
